

LAW AND ORDER

Queensland has again become a safe haven for hardened criminals and drug dealers from southern states. Outlaw motorcycle gangs are re-establishing a presence on the Gold Coast and police are powerless to stop their northwards push. The State is being flooded with drugs and the scourge of Ice has spread to all parts of Queensland from the cities to regional towns and communities. The 'politically correct' approach has been shown not to work. One Nation will support our police officers and their fight against crime.

The Morcombe family have suffered a tragedy that no family should ever endure—the loss of a child to a predator. They have called for a public sex offender's register. One Nation believes that the Queensland public should be protected from child sex offenders and supports the introduction of enabling legislation to be known as Daniel's Law.

One Nation will:

- Commit to re-badging our police as the Queensland Police Force.
- Introduce mandatory sentences for criminals caught in possession of illegal firearms.
- Ensure there is no parole for convicted murderers who refuse to cooperate in locating the remains of the deceased.
- Impose mandatory sentencing for assault against police officers, emergency service workers, ambulance officers and medical staff.
- Create a Queensland sex offenders public website that will list all offenders for a range of sex offences unless exempted by the Crime and Corruption Commission.
